6. 職務内容 Duties  The Medical Home Port (MHP) Obstetrics (OB) and/or Triage Nurse position is essential in support of the 100 obstetrics patients and the 5,000 patient's seen in Medical Home Port. The position is critical to ensure access and continuity of care and sustain the patient experience for our beneficiaries. As the OB nurse, this position carefully evaluates all obstetric patients and performs a specific nursing assessment and provides critical counseling and education on their pregnancy and plan of care. This person performs blood draws, administers medications, orders labs, creates and organizes the obstetric medical record. The OB nurse manages the appointment system and template management for the clinic as well as preparation and assistance to the USNH Yokosuka TAD OB/GYN provider. Additionally, the OB nurse manages the New OB nurse visits, works closely with Fleet and Family Center for patient education classes, and coordinates the well-baby follow-up visits. Prepares all information for the High Risk OB Case Management Conference for the FP and OB providers ensuring continuity of care. This includes contacting hospitals in the states to obtain accurate surgical history. Collaborates with all health care staff in delivering optimum care through the nursing process. The nurse will function as the medical home port and Urgent Care triage nurse providing direct and indirect (secure message/telephone) patient care to enhance the patient experience for our base beneficiaries. As a member of the health care team, will participate in administrative and supervisory activities in coordinating Hospital Corpsmen (HM) education and training to meet the Command's mission and reflective of its philosophy and objectives. The work includes a variety of duties requiring different and unrelated processes and methods applied to a broad range of administrative and clinical duties. Understands and utilizes the Team STEPPS principles. Promotes a strong
